Land Sale Approved For Jackson Shipyard

A Port and Harbor Commission recommending that Hancock County enter into an agreement for purchase of land in the industrial park as well as a terminal contract and lease with Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc., was ratified by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at a Monday meeting. Negotiations on an original agreement for the purchase of 40 acres of land in the park to establish a shipyard as well as operation of the port terminal were settled after a lengthy meeting Thursday night between Port and Harbor commissioners and representatives of Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc., a Houston-based firm. (For further details of the Thursday meeting, see story Page 1-A).

Supervisors also passed a unanimous motion accepting a Port and Harbor resolution amending existing requirements of Section 201-Employment section of the P&H covenants to require an employment density of one employee per acre, the modification to apply only to lands sold to the shipyard company.

Other P&H resolutions were approved for: payment of Claim Docket B. Port and Harbor Construction Fund and airport construction fund; payment of EDA Claim Docket 04-1-00779.

approval for Howard Byrd Construction Co. to install a chlorinator, paint a sign and install a warning light; acceptance of Contract E-9, water main additions, as 100 percent complete.

ratification of a $225,000 requisition against the interim loan executed in connection with EDA Project 04-1-00779.

A prior tentative acceptance of a bid for runway and taxiway lighting at Stennis International Airport was ratified by action of the board, granting a contract for the work to Gibson Electric Co., Tifton, Ga. Gibson's low bid of $94,581.65 was approved by unanimous motion of both boards.

In other business, supervisors authorized a five-year loan of $125,000 from Hancock Bank by the county school board. According to the school board resolution, the money will be spent to construct bleachers and a

Reasons Given For Bid Rejection

Hancock County supervisors voiced objections Monday to allegations by a Louisiana culvert firm official that Mississippi supervisors patronized firms whose bid prices were as much as 37 percent higher than those of his company.

In statements to the New Orleans Times-Picayune last week, Bill Bezdek, general manager of Bayou Culvert Co., said that his bids for metal road culverts submitted in 34 Mississippi counties were consistently rejected although 20 to 37 percent lower than competitors' bids.

The Times-Picayune story quoted Bezdek as saying that only two supervisors in one county, Lauderdale, had "done business with us." Supervisors in the remaining 33 counties, including Hancock, had not only ignored the Louisiana company's bids but refused to disclose their reasons for rejection, Bezdek stated.

Hancock County Board President Alton "Dolph" Kellar, who is in his third term as a supervisor, said Monday that Bayou Culvert Co.'s bids were refused as they did not have a state bidder's license number on the bid package. Kellar said as far as he knew low bids on all supplies and services were accepted when specifications were equal to those of higher bidders.

Francis Geoghegan, director of the state Budget Commission, said that Bayou Culvert Co. had requested Monday to enter an agency contract and file a list of prices with the commission, making the company eligible for bidding not only at the county level but with state agencies.

Bezdek's disclosures to the press charged that more than $4 million was spent on culverts last year by supervisors at prices padded to allow for kickbacks and excess profits for the suppliers.

Bezdek and Bayou Culvert vice-president E. H. Holcomb were scheduled to testify Tuesday before a legislative audit committee investigating culvert purchasing practices in the state.

Maher Resigns As News Editor

MARILEEN MAHER

Edward Hall, editor and publisher of The Sea Coast Echo, announced this week the resignation of Marileen C. Maher as news editor, effective July 12. Miss Maher, who has been with the Echo since August, 1970, is joining the staff of the Delta Democrat-Times in Greenville, Miss.

The New Orleans native was named news editor in April, 1971 and has won several awards from the Mississippi Press Women for news story, page makeup, publications edited by a woman and personal column. This month, Miss Maher and Staff Writer Adoree J. Shorle received a national award for their weekly column, "Red Beans and Rice" from the National Federation of Press Women.

Miss Maher was a member of the boards of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and the Hancock County United Fund and served as campaign chairman for the United Fund's 1972 drive. She was a member of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Altrusa Club and the Hancock County Press Association.

The Paper's The Thing...

A Louisiana culvert company official told a Mississippi legislative audit committee Tuesday that he had withdrawn his culvert bid from Hancock County in January, 1973 after being told that it was not on the right kind of paper, the Times-Picayune reported Wednesday.

In a story by W.F. Minor, Times-Picayune staff correspondent from Jackson, Miss., William Bezdek, general manager of Bayou Culvert Manufacturing Co., of Crowley, La., told the committee "They said it wasn't on the right kind of paper, and that they wanted to continue with local people."

According to Alton Kellar, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Bayou's bid was rejected because it did not contain a state bidder's license number.

During the committee hearing Tuesday, Bezdek said "We were not aware that we needed one, because we had inquired before hand of what was needed in order to bid." Bezdek then reported that when he learned of the bidder's license, his company secured one from the state auditor on Jan. 22, 1973.

The Times-Picayune also reported that, after withdrawing his bid from Hancock County, "Bezdek said as he left the meeting room of the Hancock Board, 'one gentleman followed me out and said the front door may be locked but the back door is still open and I have the key'."

Bezdek said he could identify the person to the PEER committee in closed session. He added that the man was not a supervisor but "someone connected with another culvert company."

The PEER committee began conducting hearings into metal culvert purchasing practices after the Times-Picayune's recent disclosure of padding practices of culvert companies and Mississippi supervisors.

Scouts Dedicate Salmen

The New Orleans Area Council dedicated their new Salmen Scout Reservation Sunday, a 1500-acre track of land 80 miles from New Orleans in Hancock County, near Sellers, Miss.

Joseph Domino, executive board member and a member of the South Central Regional Committee, served as master of ceremonies. The welcome was given by immediate past president Harry M. England. A special taped recording was played from Lady Baden Powell. A.L. Jung, Jr., member of the National Executive Board, introduced Marshall Monroe, national director of Manpower and Administration for the National Council, Boy Scouts of America. North Brunswick, New Jersey, as the guest speaker. The flag ceremony was conducted by the camp staff, the Invocation given by Rev. Lawrence Hecker and the Benediction by Rev. Charles R. Johnson.

Troop camping will be emphasized in the new camp, and boys will sleep in two-man tents. Food will be issued to troops for their own cooking—an important part of a Scouts training and experience.

Major features of the new camp include a 65 acre lake to permit complete boating and swimming programs, 12 troop sites with sanitation facilities, central showers, troop service building with trading post and commissary, health lodge, and the new outdoor St. Olive's Chapel for all faiths.

ROAD BLOCK... Bay St. Louis Police Chief William Carbonette maintains a lookout Wednesday afternoon at the west end of the Bay bridge for a white or cream-colored station wagon with a green right door believed carrying three persons wanted in connection with the armed robbery at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday of the Y&M Supermarket in Pass Christian. Pass Police Chief Gerald Peralta said that one man entered the market carrying a sawed-off shotgun and wearing a stocking over his face and fled with an estimated $2,000. He is described as approximately 20 years, 5' 8", 140 lbs. with blonde or light brown hair with sideburns. He was wearing cut-off blue jeans. The suspect fled to the waiting car bearing two other persons on Grayson Ave. and was last seen heading West.

Argument Erupts Over School Personnel Hiring

A heated discussion ensued at a Tuesday meeting of the Hancock County School Board between school trustees and Superintendent Kenneth McCarty over delegation of authority in hiring personnel.

Primary target for McCarty's criticism was the appointment of Wesley Ladner as school bus mechanic at a June 8 special meeting of the board.

According to the minutes of the meeting, which was called specifically to discuss the Title III-ESEA program, a motion by John Banks, seconded by Lamar Lee, was passed to hire Ladner as a bus mechanic at a salary of $400 per month.

Although he expressed approval of the action at the June 8 meeting, McCarty apparently had second thoughts about the appointment.

In a vehement denunciation of trustees' actions, McCarty Tuesday stated, "Ladner's salary of $400 a month will take $4,800 a year out of the transportation account. I have assigned a NYC worker to help Glen Ladner (present bus mechanic) and the state is paying his salary."

McCarty further stated, "How can we ever accumulate enough money in the transportation fund to buy buses when such hiring is done? Last year we came out with a $3,000 surplus in the transportation fund, the first time it's ever happened in the history of the county. This year we should have about a $5,000 surplus."

At the onset of the meeting, McCarty told the Echo reporter "you can quote me on everything I say today," adding that other people have been getting things in the paper "and I've been getting kicked in the britches."

When board members attempted to defend the action, McCarty submitted copies of one page of a three-page letter to McCarty from Maurice Black, an assistant in the state attorney general's office, in which Black clarified state laws covering hiring of school system personnel.

Section 6282-07 states that principals via the superintendent make professional (teachers) recommendations to the board and Sec. 6335-01 gives jurisdiction for hiring transportation personnel to the superintendent, who then must have approval of the board. All non-professional personnel may be hired by board members independently of the superintendent.

In all cases, Board Attorney Joseph Gex explained, recommendations for all personnel must have final approval from the board of trustees, which has the right of rejection.

In the situation under question, although trustees initiated action to hire Ladner under the transportation department, McCarty implied approval at the time by not objecting.

Defending his contention that his power had been usurped by the board, McCarty said if the board refused to rescind the motion to hire Ladner, he (McCarty) would not authorize payment of salary to Ladner.

James Awarded Contract For Runway Extension

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission accepted a bid from T.L. James Co. for construction of the runway extension project at Stennis International Airport at a bid opening Monday morning.

County board of supervisors ratified the action at a Monday afternoon meeting.

Acceptance of T.L. James' bid was the culmination of more than a year of at times desperate efforts on the part of Port and Harbor officials to secure funding for the project to extend the present runway an additional 4,000 feet.

T.L. James' bid price of $2,251,528.45 was the lower of only two bids submitted, the second bid of $2,304,082.65 coming from Donald G. Lambert contractor, Inc. of Kenner, La.

Extension of the runway to 8,500 feet will make the Hancock County airfield available for heavy cargo aircraft as well as commercial jets, expanding the revenue possibilities beyond its present private and light aircraft capabilities.

At the afternoon meeting, Port Director Dr. Michael Smith clarified a breakdown of cost figures for supervisors. Overall cost of the project is estimated at $2,775,830, Smith explained, of which $993,957.50 must be borne by the county as matching funds. Of that figure, $38,600 has already been paid by the county for land

The Federal Aviation Administration has allocated $2,500,100 for improvements to Stennis International Airport in Hancock County according to an announcement from Senator John Stennis Wednesday afternoon.

The funds will be used for overlay and extension of the runway and taxiway and runway lighting.

acquisition, leaving a balance of $655,557.50 for the county to pay.

Other breakdown figures included $2,346,118.10 for labor and material; $226,905.90 for engineering and inspection fees; $48,900 for administrative costs; and a five percent contingency fee of $117,306.

Smith told supervisors Monday that he anticipates some $694,000 in additional revenue for the runway project from the Federal Aviation Administration, as a result of President Nixon's approval last week of the airport tax bill. A grant in that amount would more than relieve the county of any further financial commitment on the project, Smith stated.

Port and Harbor commissioners and county supervisors will meet Friday at 2 p.m. with representatives of T.L. James and Jackson Landing Shipyard to sign contracts for the two projects.

Red Beans And Rice

Adrian Shettle

The recent disclosure by The Times-Picayune concerning certain culvert purchase practices by Mississippi supervisors and the beginning of a legislative inquiry into such practices Monday has caused a few local politicians several sleepless nights and mild stomach disorders (mild because they don't really believe the PEER committee will do anything serious).

Hancock County Board of Supervisors President Alton Kellar said Monday that the Bayou Culvert Manufacturing Co. bid was rejected by local supervisors because it did not contain a state bidder's license number. That seems O.K.

But then on Tuesday, William Bezdek, general manager of Bayou, told the committee that his bid was withdrawn from Hancock County after he was told that it wasn't on the right kind of paper.

That's right. Not on the right kind of paper. Repeat. Not on the right kind of paper.

Now we have heard reasons, excuses and bluffs but that has got to win an award of some kind. We do, however, sympathize with supervisors who have to come up with a variety of excuses to finally award a contract to a "local" bidder.

In order to aid the supes in their quest for fairness and honesty, Red Beans and Rice has created the following reasons which may be given for rejecting some bids. They can be used for all occasions.

- 1) All bids must be typed on electric typewriters. manuals are not allowed.
- 2) If bids are hand-delivered, they must be presented by a right-handed representative of the company. No southpaw nor ambidextrous person is permitted to submit a bid.
- 3) Companies submitting bids to officials will have previously sent large calendars and memo pads to be used in different offices in the courthouse. Companies not doing so will be rejected.
- 4) The signature of the company's representative must be made with a ball pen, fine point model, purple ink.
- 5) All bid envelopes must be addressed to THE Hancock County Board of Supervisors rather than merely, Hancock County Board of Supervisors.
- 6) Should the bids be mailed, the bid envelopes must contain regular eight cents stamps rather than commemorative stamps.
- 7) Companies submitting bids must have hosted at least 18 luncheons for supes prior to the bid opening date.

We hope the supes take our suggestions as good-naturedly as we intend them to be. And these suggestions-for-reasons-will-be-helpful.

Because now the supes have to concentrate on reasons for allowing Breland to start on county road work without a performance bond. Good luck, boys.

AARP Celebrates Anniversary

The first anniversary meeting of Hancock County chapter No. 1114, American Association of Retired Persons was held June 18.

A special program featured a medley of patriotic songs, commemorating the 197th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, was rendered by Fred Horn program chairman, followed by a brief report of the first year history of the chapter by Fred Fisher, president. The highlight of the meeting was guest speaker Abner Daniel, state representative for A.A.R.P. in Mississippi. His address dealt with the new anti crime program for the mature citizen. He then reported on new legislation bills to be sponsored by the 13,000 members in the state, at the next session, on taxes for the older citizen.

On June 21 a delegation representing the local chapter attended a workshop meeting at the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson. The delegates attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horn, Mrs. Agnes Chevis, Mrs. Eva Ruhr, and Mrs. Frankie Stork.

MAN SENTENCED
Michael P. Canizaro, 20, a New Orleans shipyard worker, received a total of $550 in fines and a 30-day suspended sentence on drunk and disorderly charges stemming from a June 24 incident on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

In a June 26 hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph Dobson, Canizaro pled guilty to charges of no brake sticker, using profane language in public and DWI (driving while intoxicated). Although he pled not guilty to charges of resisting arrest and threatening an officer, after hearing testimony from arresting officer Emmitt Ellis, Dobson found Canizaro guilty on all charges. Dobson levied the following fines: resisting arrest, $100; threatening an officer, $200; and 30 days suspended; no brake sticker, $25; DWI, $175; using profane language, $50.

Bids Accepted

Bids were opened for construction of classroom additions to two county schools at a Tuesday morning meeting of Hancock County School trustees.

Three bids were received in response to advertisements for the construction of five classrooms, two rest rooms and storage spaces at Hancock North Central School. The same three contractors also submitted bids for construction of four classrooms and minor plumbing and electrical work at Gulfview Elementary School.

On the Hancock North Central job, George P. Hopkins of Gulfport was the apparent low bidder with a base price of $131,506, work to be completed in 150 calendar days. Other bids included Terry Peeney Construction Co. of Waveland, $133,000 and 120 calendar days; Columbia Construction Co., Columbia, Miss., $147,000 and 180 calendar days.

Terry Peeney was the apparent low bidder on the Gulfview School project with a bid price of $53,000 to complete in 100 calendar days. George Hopkins was the next low bid with a base price of $59,612, 120 calendar days. Columbia Construction's base bid on the job was $73,000 at 180 calendar days completion. President Horace Davis informed contractors that the bids would be held for one week for study with contract awards slated for a July 3, 9 a.m. meeting of the board.

Training Your Dog

A dog is a member of the family. And, like children, a dog needs training in manners and behavior. Not only is he a more enjoyable companion by not jumping on people and furniture but he's safer not chasing cars or chasing into street traffic.

The five basic commands every house dog should know and obey are heel, sit, down, stay, and come.

My previous column dealt with the "heel" and "sit" commands. Now, here are training tips for the other three. For complete lessons, there are obedience training classes available and, for home training, excellent books by experts on the subject.

DOWN. Start with the dog short leashed, sitting attentively. Grip the leash close to his collar and give short tugs downward saying "DOWN." "DOWN, DOWN" in a commanding voice. The first few times, you may have to use your other hand to pull his forefeet out from under him for the desired lying down position. Repeat the performance again and again.

Another way is to give the "Down" command and firmly push his shoulders down while wobbling him off balance. Either way, praise him frequently as "good dog."

STAY. When this command is given while the dog is standing, sitting, or lying down, he should remain until your release signal. It isn't difficult once the "sit" and "down" commands are learned. Command the dog to go "DOWN" then tell him to "STAY" that way while you walk around him, over him, and away from him. Each time he starts to get up, say "NO, STAY," and be sure he returns to the "down" position each time.

Practice the lessons daily until he "stays" correctly on both the short and long leash. Throughout these lessons, vary the locations indoors and out, to keep the dog's interest high.

Training Your Dog

A dog is a member of the family. And, like children, a dog needs training. Manners and behavior. Not only is he a more enjoyable companion by not jumping on people and furniture but he's safer. Not chasing cars or dashing into street traffic. The five basic commands every house dog should know and obey are: heel, sit, down, stay, and come.

My previous column dealt with the "heel" and "sit" commands. Now, here are training tips for the other three. For complete lessons, there are obedience training classes available and, for home training, excellent books by experts on the subject.

DOWN. Start with the dog short leashed, sitting attentively. Grip the leash close to his collar and give short tugs downward, saying, "DOWN, DOWN, DOWN." In a commanding voice. The first few times, you may have to use your other hand to pull his forehead out from under him for the desired lying down position. Repeat the performance again and again.

Another way is to give the "down" command and firmly push his shoulders down while wobbling him off balance. Either way, praise him frequently as "good dog."

STAY. When this command is given while the dog is standing, sitting, or lying down, he should remain so until your release signal. It isn't difficult once the "down" and "down" commands are learned. Command the dog to go "DOWN" then tell him to "STAY" that way while you walk around him, over him, and away from him. Each time he starts to get up, say "NO, STAY," and be sure he returns to the "down" position each time.

Practice the lessons daily until he "stays" correctly on both the short and long leash. Throughout these lessons, vary the locations indoors and out. In keep the dog's interest high.

COME. This is the most important lesson. A dog untrained to "come" when called is beyond your control and can get into trouble.

Start with the dog in the "Down, Stay" position on his long leash. Toss the free end of the leash away, walk over to the end, pick it up and face your dog.

Reflections

A SHIPMENT FOR W.A. McDonald and Sons of Bay St. Louis was snapped at Beach Blvd. and Dunbar Avenue. The truck was a Model T Ford owned by McDonald's, the shipment included items that are still on the market today, such as Magnolia Condensed Milk, Bull Durham Tobacco and Klotz Cracker Company products. The size of the tires were 30 inches by 3 1/2 inches. The time was 1927, photo courtesy of W. A. McDonald and Sons. (Readers are urged to submit photos to the Echo for use in Reflections. All pictures will be returned unharmed at the Echo office. Use of all photos is left to the discretion of the editor.)

Bids Accepted

Bids were opened for construction of classroom additions to two county schools at a Tuesday morning meeting of Hancock County School trustees.

Three bids were received in response to advertisements for the construction of five classrooms, two rest rooms and storage spaces at Hancock North Central School. The same three contractors also submitted bids for construction of four classrooms and minor plumbing and electrical work at Gulfview Elementary School.

On the Hancock North Central job, George P. Hopkins of Gulfport was the apparent low bidder with a base price of $131,506, work to be completed in 150 calendar days. Other bids included Terry Feeney Construction Co. of Waveland, $133,000 and 120 calendar days; Columbia Construction Co., Columbia, Miss., $147,000 and 180 calendar days.

Terry Feeney was the apparent low bidder on the Gulfview School project with a bid price of $53,000 to complete in 100 calendar days. George Hopkins was the next low bid with a base price of $59,612, 120 calendar days. Columbia Construction's base bid on the job was $73,000 at 180 calendar days completion.

President Horace Davis informed contractors that the bids would be held for one week for study with contract awards slated for a July 3, 9 a.m. meeting of the board.

MR. HUGH E. WARD ACCEPTS DELIVERY OF HIS NEW CHEVY FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN PETE MORAN.

Mr. Ward talked to Pete Moran about buying a new car, and during the conversation, Pete Moran showed him how he could save money on buying a new car from Turan-Lane Chevrolet. Mr. Ward was well pleased with the amount of money he could save so he bought. Mr. Ward, a resident of Long Beach and an employee of South Central Bell was very glad that he took the short ride over to Turan-Lane Chevrolet before he bought, as he was able to save money on his new car.

EYEBALL TO EYEBALL with high flying birds, Larry Taylor, above (literally!), climbs more than 70 feet up a dead tree in Bay St. Louis. It's a hard way to tell a tree, but the only way when it's surrounded by buildings. Below, Taylor unconcernedly drops a large section as he cuts his way down. A "climber" for 25 years, Taylor works for Melvin Burge Tree Service.

Training Your Dog

A dog is a member of the family. And, like children, a dog needs training in manners and behavior. Not only is he a more enjoyable companion by not jumping on people and furniture but he's safer not chasing cars or dashing into street traffic.

The five basic commands every house dog should know and obey are heel, sit, down, stay, and come.

My previous column dealt with the "heel" and "sit" commands. Now, here are training tips for the other three. For complete lessons, there are obedience training classes available and, for home training, excellent books by experts on the subject.

DOWN. Start with the dog short leashed, sitting attentively. Grip the leash close to his collar and give short tugs downward, saying "DOWN, DOWN, DOWN." In a commanding voice. The first few times, you may have to use your other hand to pull his forefeet out from under him for the desired lying down position. Repeat the performance again and again.

Another way is to give the "Down" command and firmly push his shoulders down while wobbling him off balance. Either way, praise him frequently as "good dog."

STAY. When this command is given while the dog is standing, sitting, or lying down, he should remain so until your release signal. It isn't difficult once the "sit" and "down" commands are learned. Command the dog to go "DOWN" then tell him to walk around him, over him, and away from him. Each time he starts to get up, say "NO, STAY," and be sure he returns to the "down" position each time.

Practice the lessons daily until he "stays" correctly on both the short and long leash. Throughout these lessons, vary the locations indoors and out to keep the dog's interest high.

COME. This is the most important lesson. A dog untrained to "come" when called is beyond your control and can get into trouble.

Start with the dog in the "Down, Stay" position on his long leash. Toss the treat and of the leash away, walk over to the end, pick it up and face your dog.

CANNING TIME

It is again time to begin putting those vegetables and fruits in jars for your use all year round. But is everything ready? You are; and possibly your vegetables are; but is your equipment ready? Let's find out.

Glass Jars:

Be sure all jars and closures are perfect. Discard any with cracks, chips, dents, or rust; defects prevent airtight seals.

Wash glass jars in hot, soapy water and rinse well. Wash and rinse all lids and bands. Metal lids with sealing compound may need boiling or holding in boiling water for a few minutes. Follow the manufacturer's instructions. If you use porcelain-lined metal caps, be sure they have not spread or bent at edges.

If you use rubber rings, have clean, new rings of the right size for the jars. Don't test by stretching. Wash rings in hot, soapy water. Rinse well.

WATER BATH CANNER:

Water-bath canners are available on the market. Any big metal container may be used as a boiling water-bath canner if it is deep enough so water is well over tops of jars and has space to boil freely. Allow 2 to 4 inches above jar tops for brisk boiling. The canner must have a tight fitting cover and a wire or wooden rack. Jars should not touch one another or the side of the canner.

STEAM-PRESSURE CANNER:

Wash pressure canner thoroughly before and after each using. Never put the lid into water.

For safe operation of your canner, clean pet-cock and safety valve openings by drawing a string or narrow strip of cloth through them. Do this at the beginning of each canning season and often during the season.

The pressure gauge should be checked once a year to be sure it registers correctly. To have the gauge checked bring your pressure canner by the Extension Home Economist Office in the Agricultural Center Building on Necaise Avenue, Phone 467-5456. This service is free of charge for you. Be safe - Check your canning equipment before you begin canning this season.

SOYBEANS

Soybean yields depend upon many other factors than planting dates. Much of the effect of late planting can be overcome if there is ample moisture at planting time to assure a rapid stand and fast growth for the first month.

Also a great importance is the amount of rainfall we get during August and September when the pods are being filled. Above normal rainfall during this period could offset much of the influence of planting date.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT

You can increase your forage yields 200 to 300 percent by giving your pastures good management and proper fertilization.

Summer grass pastures should get at least two applications of 45 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre during the summer.

For grazing management, the permanent pastures should be divided into at least three grazing areas. Cattle should be rotated from one area to another at weekly intervals. This will force cattle to graze all of the grass, preventing spot grazing. It will also permit uniform regrowth of pastures once cattle are moved from each individual area.

TIMBER MANAGEMENT

About one out of every three trees growing in our timber lands is a cull - of little or no value now and with little hope of ever having any value. These culls take up needed room from valuable trees and should be removed so that the good trees can grow.

Most researchers say that timber owners' greatest returns on investment of time, labor and money will come from removing these culls so that better trees will have more room to grow.

Pecan crop prospects look good right now, but insects and diseases could change the picture.

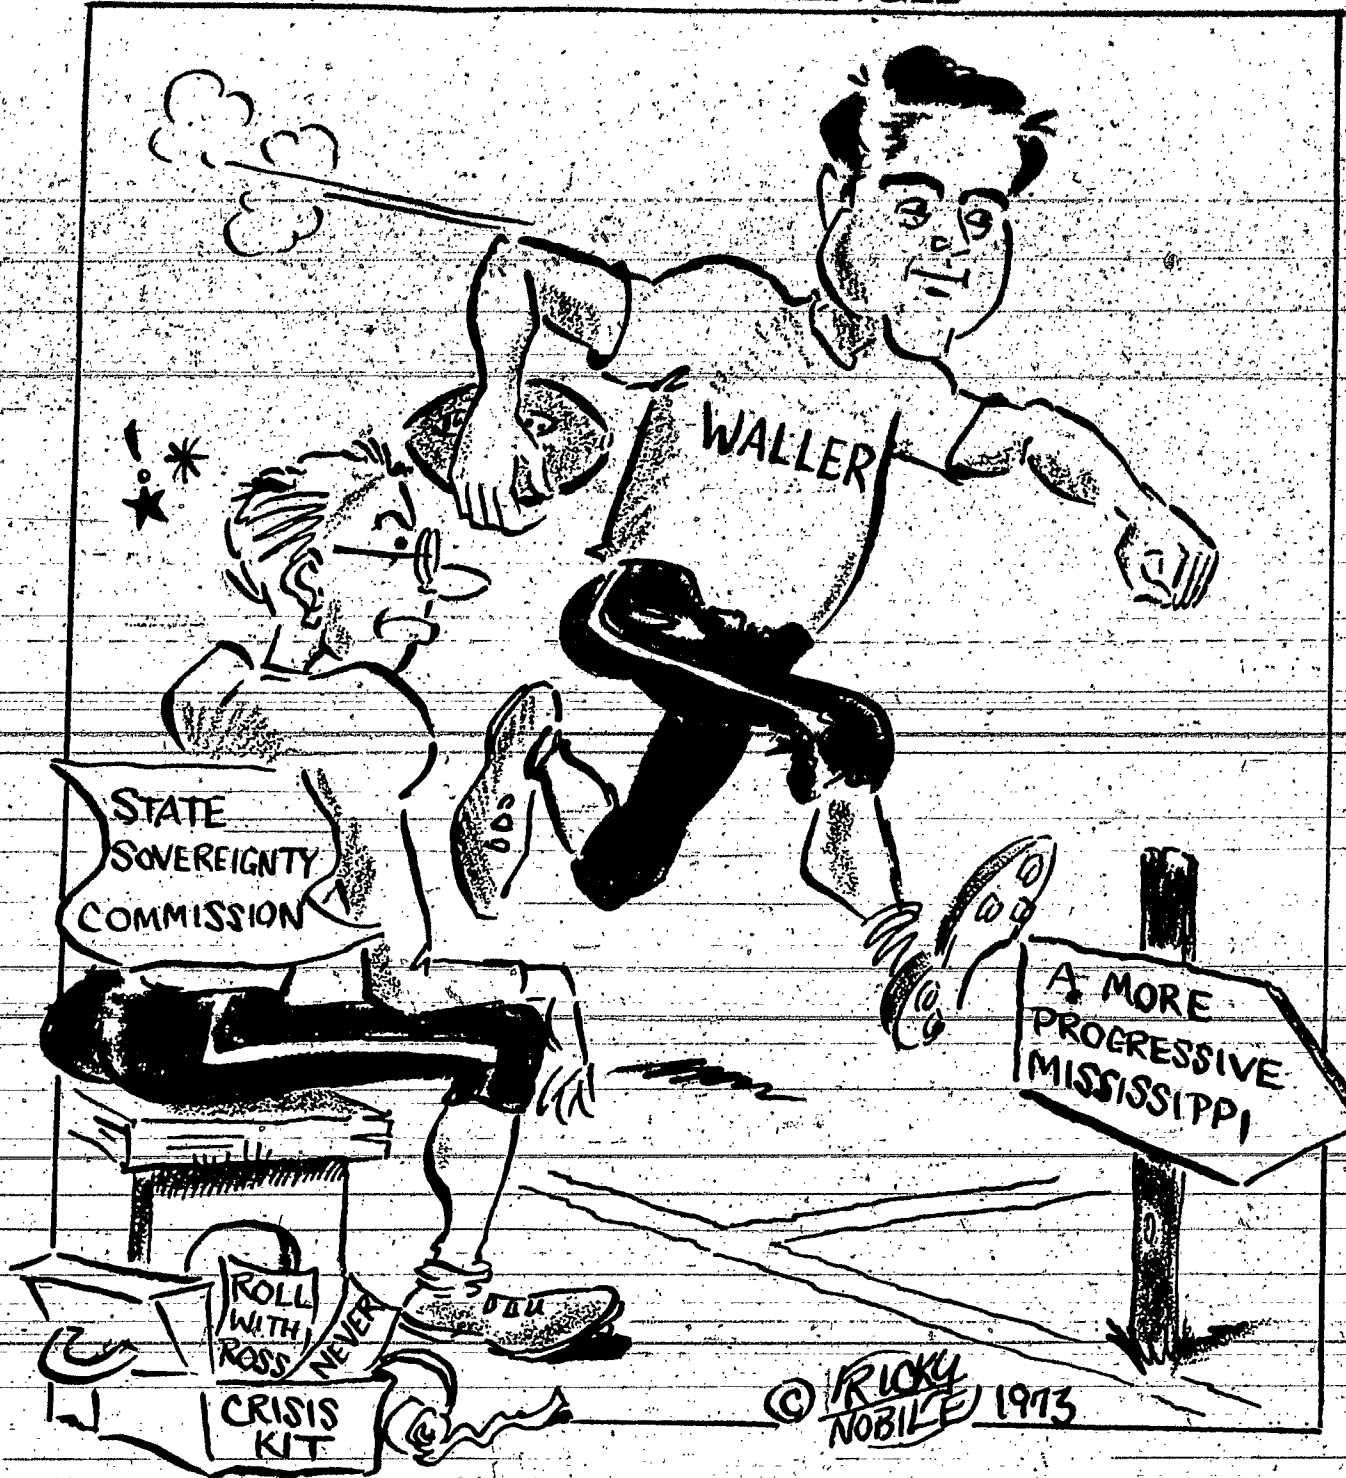

Trees must be sprayed to control fungus and insects that could seriously reduce the crop. Follow a spray schedule closely.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

I wish to express my appreciation of the article on summer activities for the youth of our community which appeared in the June 14 issue of the Echo.

The Parks and Playgrounds Commission have developed a program which is a credit to a community of our size. Brother Pascal and Brother Canislaus of St. Stanislaus are to be commended for their part in bringing tennis to the forefront as a major activity of the young people of the city. Brother Albert Ledet, also of St. Stanislaus, and his assistants deserve to be recognized for their valuable contribution to youth activities with their swimming instruction classes.

The Jaycees with their teenage dances and the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary with their Summer Fun House have added substantially to the activities for the young people.

To all these people who have devoted much of their time and know-how to the youth of our community, we owe a debt of gratitude.

Very sincerely
Warren Carver
Mayor

Dear Sir:

What a shame and a disgrace to a supposed civilized nation, to wantonly destroy those healthy, beautiful baby chicks, in large drums to smother to death; oh, we are fast arriving at that long known prediction, "A Willful Waste, makes a Woeful Want."

Just a few seconds ago a consoling sound came into the audio of T.V. mentioning that the Humane Society, had broken in to stop the slaughter. It may have been too late. The lust for greed and profit will go to great lengths to obtain their goals. Surely there must have been some other way, the chicken farmers, could have disposed of these baby chicks, even giving them away, would have been more laudable and merciful than sarage destruction.

They were brash and brazen enough to remind us, the "consumer, would suffer"; how well we are aware of that. May a just Providence in his righteous wrath dial with these chicken farmers, before the prophesy of dire famine will be upon us.

Sincerely,
Eleanor E. McFie
Waveland, Miss.

Forestry Report

It is the goal of the Mississippi Forestry Commission to plan and conduct a statewide forestry program which will benefit the greatest number of people in the state on a continuing basis.

The commission is continually seeking ways to improve so that the services to you will be of the highest quality. Constant training of our personnel keeps them up-to-date on fire fighting techniques and better able to provide top forest resource management to landowners.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission's program depends greatly upon the support given it by our citizens. It is with this note that I take the opportunity to thank the people of Hancock County for the splendid cooperation given the forestry program in Hancock County, and may we continue our efforts in this direction until every wooded area becomes a busy one-growing timber.

More productive forests mean more industry, more jobs, and more personal income to each of you.

The key services provided by the Forestry Commission to Hancock County landowners are:

1. Protection from wildfires
2. Detection of insects and diseases.
3. Woodland examination and advice
4. Timber marking
5. Tree seedlings
6. Utilization and marketing of timber products
7. Tree planting
8. Control of undesirable trees.
9. Fire land construction
10. Prescribed burning

Many of these services are performed without charge to the landowners. However, added cost involved, and the limited amount of funds available for one basic operation make it necessary for us to do some of this work on a fee basis.

Our tree planting, control of undesirable trees, firelane construction, and prescribed burning are all done on a fee basis. The remainder of services offered to county landowners may be performed without charge except timber marking. Commission personnel can mark 40 acres of timber free; additional amounts may be done at a cost to the landowners on a per cord or a per thousand feet basis.

All job costs may be determined prior to the time the work begins, and job agreements entered into so the landowners may know where he stands at all times.

If we of the Forestry Commission may be of help to you with any of your forestry problems, feel free to get in touch with us.

With summer at hand and many families vacationing, the Mississippi Forestry Commission offers some advice to the parents of all children who enjoy the woods either at home or away.

Children mean only to taste, but with a common garden tree or shrub, a taste is all that is necessary to bring tragic results.

When the forest was in every settler's front yard, death was an every day event. Two hundred years ago the tenderfoot trying to live off the land often unintentionally met agonizing death by no other hand but his own. He died not of gunshot or silent blade but of a wrong guess in the matter of what to eat. If the squirrels ate of a tree, the beginning outdoorsman felt he might safely do the same and often paid dearly for his error.

Today, when we never lack for wholesome food we would not think of eating the leaves or fruit of forest trees and shrubs even though they may appear very tempting. Yet, children seem to wonder about the taste of the beautiful red, yellow, lavender, or pink berries we find on ornamental shrubs. Shiny leaves as glossy as candied fruit, seem to appear sugar coated to unwary children just discovering the wonders of their environment. Following are some basic precautions regarding plants in the woods or garden.

Any tree or shrub having dark green leaves (like the dark stripes on a watermelon) is more likely than not to be toxic. Mountain laurel, Rhododendron, oleander, boxwood, and privet qualify in this class. Any tree bearing seeds in pods, such as black locust ought to be left alone; this includes vines such as wisteria. Any plant having berries of a bright color such as holly, yew, elderberry (that's right, most of the time elderberry is full of prussic acid) or dogwood will have chemicals in its bark, leaves, or fruit that may produce violent illness or death.

As with all things there are exceptions in nature, but the characteristics above apply to the majority of shrubs and trees capable of striking down the inquisitive nibbler or taster.

TEARS OF JOY fell when Mrs. Thomas Holzhauser, holding trophies, learned that her boat, the John Mayar, won first place award at Sunday's Blessing of the Fleet ceremony. The large trophy is a perpetual trophy given by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the annual event. Second and third place winners were Lady Gloria and Ricky G. respectively. Twelve fishing boats, all beautifully and gaily decorated, along with several small craft, came before the committee boat, Majohaba, for the traditional blessing by Mgr. John Scanlon of St. Clare Catholic Church, Waveland. Crowds of people lined the beach and American Legion pier to watch the parade of boats and catch balloons which several boats dropped into the water.

Twelve Arrested In Drug Raids

Hancock Sheriff's deputies arrested 12 young people on narcotics charges in two separate incidents last weekend.

A 19-year-old girl, Sherry Lagman, and three juvenile males were arrested about 1 a.m. Saturday when deputies and Waveland police entered a Waveland residence at 201 Jeff Davis St. with a search warrant. The girl, two 17-year-old youths and a 16-year-old boy, were each charged with possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia. One of the 17-year-olds was additionally listed as a runaway.

The four, who had been allegedly living in the house, were confined to the county jail pending a Tuesday night hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph Dobson.

Arresting officers were Special Agents Ronald Peterson and Paul Bernard assisted by Waveland patrolmen Donald Dorn and Eugene Hughes.

According to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, the house had been under surveillance for two months. Entering with a search warrant, deputies found three girls and five young men in the living room of the house. Officers confiscated eight tablets of LSD, about an ounce and a half of cured marijuana in four plastic bags and a quantity of narcotics paraphernalia.

Arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of LSD and possession of paraphernalia were Wesley L. McFarland, Jr., 19, 104 Timberlane, Bay St. Louis and John S. Amos, 20, owner-occupant of the house.

Materials Testing To Continue At MTF

Senator John C. Stennis announced Friday the establishment of a permanent resident engineering office at the Mississippi Test Facility in Hancock County to continue a program of testing and evaluating hazardous materials for the U.S. Army.

The program has been conducted at MTF for the last three years on a temporary basis.

The senator said the development of environmentally safe methods to dispose of obsolete munitions as well as the classification of munitions will continue to be part of the work performed at MTF.

While initially three or four persons will be employed in connection with the program, the number of employees is expected to increase during the year.

Another attempt to establish priorities for county road repair under federal revenue sharing funds aborted when supervisors failed to agree on certain road and material priorities. The matter was held in abeyance pending the presence of the county engineer.

Another problem arose when it became apparent that Don Breland, contractor for the project, did not have a state-approved performance bond. Supervisors conferred with Breland on the matter in a private session following the regular business meeting.

No action was taken on a bill submitted by Burke and Associates, former consulting engineers for the county. Board President Alton Kellar objected to payment of the $1,144.28 bill saying that the New Orleans firm had been overpaid by some $34,458.96 on various county projects in the past.

That amount was paid in excess of the figure for engineering services on projects under Burke's supervision, Kellar maintained.

In an unrelated matter, supervisors unanimously appointed the following members of the County Welfare Commission, effective July 1: Mrs. Mitty Breland, beat one; Delmar Wilcox, beat two; Mrs. Frances Frankiewicz, beat three; Woodrow Ladner, beat four; Emile Hazeur, beat five.

Police Report

Bay St. Louis police responded to 40 calls in the period of June 21 through 27.

An Austin Jeep, stolen June 20 in New Orleans, was recovered June 22 by Bay police. The car was reported abandoned on deMontluzin St. The car is being held in Bay St. Louis pending NOPD recovery.

Police are holding a 10-speed Sears bicycle for owner identification. The bicycle was recovered from a wooded area behind the A&P Food Store, following a call from a Bay Royale-Apis resident.

City motorists are cautioned to observe all 10 MPH speed limits in the city, especially near playgrounds and the ball park. Radar is now in use throughout the city to check speed limit violations.

4-H Congress Held At MSU

The Annual 4-H Club Congress was held at Mississippi State University June 12-14. 4-H members and leaders from throughout the state participated in this event.

Hancock County members participating in judging contests are: Peggy Smith, foods; Linda Ladner, home improvement; Norman Breaux and Keith Lee, crops; Joey Smith, entomology; Leroy Ferguson and Norman Rester, dairy; and Keith Dossett and Steve Lee, meats.

Members participating in other contests are: Daren Swilley and Phyllis Lee, dress revue; Kathy Ladner, Debbie Ladner, and Debbie Ann Ladner, share-the-fun; Susan Neelise, career exploration; visual presentation; and Bradley Whitfield, automotive safety and driving contest. Bradley placed first in his contest and will participate in a regional contest later this year.

Donna Ladner and Rodrick Lee represented the county as Leadership Delegates. Rodrick was elected parliamentarian of the State 4-H Council.

School Personnel Hiring

McCarthy brought up another point of contention over Hancock North Central janitors having been directed to paint school walls. Janitors are not supposed to paint, he maintained, accusing Banks of interfering in matters of school maintenance.

By request of Board President Horace Davis, Gex agreed to investigate the matter further and render a decision on whether the board was obligated to rescind action at the next meeting July 3.

Turning to another matter, Davis referred to the legality of taking action at special meetings on business other than that for which the special meeting was called.

"I will be the first to admit that this has been done in the past but I feel we were wrong," Davis said. Gex answered that he was not aware of any law preventing the occurrence and knew that other boards have done so on occasions of absolute necessity.

The school board agreed that the practice was not advisable and in an effort to rectify past incidents, rescinded a motion made at the June 3 meeting, purchasing a trailer for classroom use at Hancock North Central.

Another reason, Davis pointed out, was that the price of the trailer necessitated advertising for bids. The June 8 purchase motion was rescinded by a vote of four with Tommy Shaw abstaining from voting.

In an unrelated matter, a motion was passed requiring all county school janitors to attend a one-day janitors' workshop scheduled for July 24 at Hancock North Central School. A representative of the state department of education will come from Jackson to conduct the workshop, assistant Superintendent E.E. Breland told the board.

Sentences Given On Drug Charges

A Bay St. Louis girl was fined $250 and two of her three juvenile male companions were sentenced to time in the county jail on narcotics charges by Justice of the Peace Joseph Dobson at Tuesday-night hearing.

Sherry Lagman, 19, 401 State St., was arrested June 23 at a Waveland residence with two 17-year-old juvenile males and another youth, 16.

At the June 26 hearing, the girl was fined $200 each on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. An additional charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors brought a $50 fine.

Her two 17-year-old companions, each charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, were sentenced to six months in the county jail on each charge.

making a total sentence of one year in the county jail for each boy, with nine months suspended. Each 17-year-old must serve a complete 90-day sentence with no time off for good behavior, Dobson ruled.

He also gave the three a stern warning that a subsequent appearance in his court on similar charges will bring the maximum fine of $1,000 and one year in jail. The 16-year-old youth has been detained by county juvenile authorities for further action.

There's more to electricity than meets the plug

One of a series of consumer messages especially for customers of Mississippi Power Company.

12 "Centsible" Tips on Air Conditioning

During the hot, humid summer months, most of us will use more electricity than at any other time of the year as we seek the comfort of air conditioning. This increased usage of electric service will naturally be reflected in our monthly utility bill. To help you save money on air conditioning this summer and get the most efficient use of your electric service, we offer the following suggestions.

1. Have your air conditioning equipment inspected and serviced at the beginning of the season. You could prevent an expensive repair bill later. An air conditioning unit in proper working condition will mean better efficiency and lower operating costs.
2. Don't fail to clean or change air conditioning filters at least once a month. A dirty filter restricts the flow of air and increases operating cost. Clogged filters make air conditioning units work harder and may lead to serious and expensive repairs.
3. Don't play with the thermostat. For economy, set the thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature, usually about 78 degrees. Also, when starting your air conditioner, do not set the thermostat to a colder setting than normal. This will only make the unit run longer, not cool any faster.
4. If your air conditioner has been shut off during a cool night, give it an early start the next morning before a new day's summer heat fills the house.
5. To help keep intense attic heat from other parts of your house, use a thermostatically-controlled attic exhaust fan adjusted to draw out the hot air. Also, use a vented exhaust fan to remove excessive heat and moisture in the kitchen and bathroom areas.
6. Make certain that you have free passage of air to and from your unit both inside and outside your house. Window drapes and furniture can block the air flow inside. Outdoor sections of cooling equipment need space for the flow of air, so keep plants, walls, or other obstructions away.
7. Your air conditioning unit must work extra hard to combat heat from direct sunlight. Awnings, shutters, and drapes over windows provide the best protection from sun's rays. Keep them drawn during the sunniest part of the day.
8. Buy the proper size air conditioning unit, one that gives you the correct number of BTU's for the area to be cooled. Avoid buying an oversized unit. Remember: the larger the unit, the more it costs to operate.
9. Weatherstrip windows and doors, especially large glass ones. Keep them closed as much as possible. Otherwise, you let hot air inside — cool air outside — and waste dollars. Check your weatherstripping to see if it is worn and needs replacing.
10. Adequate insulation will result in lower operating costs. Usually six inches of insulation in the ceiling and four inches in walls is suggested. The cost of insulation is usually recovered by lower cooling (and heating) costs.
11. Light bulbs and television sets generate heat, so don't leave them on unnecessarily and don't forget to close the door when going outside or when the youngsters come inside.
12. If your cooling unit stops running, check the breaker or fuses and reset. If it stops again after resetting, call your repairman. Do not reset a second time. And remember to study the manufacturer's instruction book — this tells you most accurately how to efficiently run your cooling equipment.

Breaux-Ladner Exchange Vows

Infant of Prague Catholic Church, White Cypress, was the setting June 9 for the afternoon wedding of Miss Veronica Lee Ladner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ladner, White Cypress, and Louis Joseph Breaux IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Breaux III, also of White Cypress.

Rev. Abram Dono officiated at the double ring ceremony. Baskets of white gladiolas, yellow spider mums and daisies decorated the church. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de sole formal gown fashioned with an empire bodice of re-embroidered lace with square neckline and long sleeves. The A-line skirt and train were bordered with re-embroidered lace appliques. Her waistline veil of illusion was held in place by a peau-de-sole bow and she carried a bouquet of white daisies centered with an orchid.

Miss Phyllis Anne Ladner, White Cypress, attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Christine Breaux, Monica Ladner and Miriam Ladner, all of White Cypress.

They wore formal yellow floral print gowns featuring empire-style bodices, short sleeves and A-line skirts. They carried cascades of white daisies and yellow spider mums and wore large white wide brimmed hats trimmed with yellow ribbon.

Michael Trahan, White Cypress, attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Andy Ladner, New Orleans; Norman Breaux, Rocky Hill; David Ladner, Dedeaux; and Carl Woods, Gulfport, served as ushers.

Yellow and white carnations, yellow and white streamers and white bells decorated the Anderson-Shaw Post American Legion Home for the reception following the ceremony.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a lavender double knit pants suit worn with the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Kiln.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Prager III, New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Breaux Jr., Susan Trahan, Baldwin, La., Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Trahan, Algiers, La., Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Mayfield and family, Harvey, La., Mr. and Mrs. Terry Dufrene and daughter, Thibodeaux, La., Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Baker and son, Huntsville, Ala.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Show Me Your License"

Ernie's temper began to simmer when he was stopped by a police roadblock on his way home from work. Asked to show his driver's license, Ernie grudgingly complied. But the next day, he filed an "indignant citizen" suit to have the practice halted.

In a court hearing, he said: "Our streets are supposed to be free. What right do they have to stop me when I haven't broken any laws?"

However, the court ruled that the roadblock was legal.

It is in the public interest," said the court, "that officers make periodic checkpoints on the qualifications of those who operate motor vehicles on the highways. Constitutionally prescribed freedoms are not unbridled licenses to defy the orderly conduct of society."

Still, although police do have the power to check licenses, they must not abuse that power. In another case, officers had a hunch that a certain car was carrying contraband whiskey. Stopping the car ostensibly to check the driver's license, they found and seized the whiskey—in plain sight on the back seat.

But this evidence was eventually thrown out of court because of the way it had been obtained. The judge said the police had used their power to check licenses as a "mere subterfuge" to get around the restrictions on search and seizure.

In one unusual case, a motorist kept his license in a locked glove compartment. When an officer asked for it one day, he couldn't find the key—and finally had to pry open the lock.

The policeman gave him a citation on the ground that the license had not been "in his immediate possession."

But the court decided that it could not so rule as a matter of law. The court said that, since drivers' licenses have become such an important means of identification, keeping them safe in a locked glove compartment was "not abnormal."

Invisible Fence

Barbed-wire fences may be harder to climb, and wooden fences harder to see through. But for sheer versatility, nothing beats the invisible fence erected around every piece of property by the laws of trespass and nuisance.

Consider an example:

The Benson family lived next door to a vacant lot on which the owner kept a large pile of sand. Whenever the wind blew from that direction, sand would seep through the doors and windows of the Benson house.

Finally Benson sued the neighbor on grounds of nuisance. In court, the neighbor argued that he could not be blamed for what the wind did. But the court held it was unlawful—a breach of the invisible fence—for him to allow his sand to invade the Benson premises.

Other courts have taken a similar attitude toward leaves dropped from an overhanging tree, vines spreading into a lawn, eaves jutting over a boundary line (by a matter of inches), and sound waves from a neighbor's howling dog.

And, of course, the invisible fence also bars anyone from walking across your property without permission.

How high does the fence extend? Courts used to say it extended all the way up to heaven—a theory that, if enforced literally, would make every airplane flying overhead a trespasser.

Nowadays, your invisible fence extends only to a "reasonable" height. But still, your protection goes higher than the average house top.

In one case a telephone company strung a wire 30 feet above a man's back yard, contending it was using only the "free and open" air. However, a court ordered the wire removed, since space that close to the ground might well be used someday by the owner himself.

"The space occupied by the wire," said the court, "was a part of his land. The law protects it from hostile occupation."

Word to the Wise Consumer

"Beyond any doubt, the greatest engine ever invented for the discovery of truth."

John Henry Wigmore, famed legal authority, was not talking about such modern devices as the lie detector or truth serum. He was talking about the ancient art of cross-examination—that is, the use of careful, patient questioning to get at the facts.

You as a consumer can put this "engine" to good use every time you go shopping. Asking the right questions about a product can do wonders toward helping you get your money's worth.

But one vital distinction should always be kept in mind—the distinction between questions of fact and questions of opinion. This distinction is a key to your legal rights as a consumer.

Suppose you ask, "How much weight will this water bed support?" This is a question of fact. The seller is legally bound to give you accurate information.

But suppose you ask, "What do you think of these water beds?" That is a mere question of opinion. The seller can say "They're just great!" or "They make you feel 10 years younger!" without incurring any legal responsibility at all. The law assumes—realistically—that a seller is likely to exaggerate his enthusiasm and that a buyer is likely to take such statements with a grain of salt.

Sellers are well aware of the difference between the two kinds of questions. The stockbroker who assures you that a certain stock "has a terrific potential" (matter of opinion) will probably choose his words more carefully when you inquire about the company's dividend record or outstanding debt (matters of fact).

Consider an actual case. A customer buying a short-wave radio asked the salesman whether it would get broadcasts from Rome. The salesman assured him it would.

But it wouldn't. The customer demanded his money back, and a court ruled in his favor.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L. S. (Doc) Elliott

North East winds prevailed over the weekend making the nights cooler while the days were scorchers. Fishing in general was fair while fresh water fishing was best yet this summer. Plenty bass and perch were caught late in the afternoons from 4 until dark. We caught fish Sunday up until 8 o'clock p.m.

The tide ran out best late in the afternoon and the bass were hitting like old times. They were gotten mostly on the fly rod with popping bugs. One would think that July Fourth weekend was already here due to the number of fishermen and campers noted everywhere. Those launching boats almost had to get in line to put their boats over. Clear water is most everywhere especially in the Pearlinton area.

Didn't get much on soft crabbing and floundering but saw several lights out front over the weekend. Must have been getting a few.

Frogging is still good. You can go most any night and catch a mess without any trouble.

Remember the 4th of July is next week. It is time to renew that fishing license. Don't slip up and get caught without one.

Lucky is the man who can go fishing on week days. Almost had to have a traffic cop to direct boats over the weekend. Skiers, fishermen, just boat riders, etc.

Sam Guagliardo and Sylvester Chiniche from Ocean Springs and Biloxi where visiting relatives and friends in the Bay. Both are former residents and both enjoy catching fish and crabs.

Clay Thompson and Charles Favre caught 9 dozen hard crabs last week off the Hi-way bridge. They said "Don't say they are not giving. There are plenty for all!"

Curtis Asher said he has been catching plenty fish. Thinking about getting a bigger motor so he can get to them much faster.

Otis Bounds states that he has been catching plenty red fish and speckles, using cokeho minnows. Bounds is the brother-in-law of Hy S. Carver and bridge tender of the Pearl River R.R. Bridge. Otis has been catching fish a long time, knows how to do it.

Harry Jennings of Waveland had a surprise visit from a friend he had not seen for over 49 years, Nat Lavell, who has moved to Piquette to live. You can bet there was Clois Dedeaux attended both the Bay St. Louis and Biloxi Blessing of the Fleet Ceremonies. He was on a boat which won a prize in both affairs.

Must be catching plenty cat fish up Jourdan River. Cat fish lines are most everywhere. Saw a few nice size ones the other day. Small perch can be caught on earthworms by still fishing and make excellent bait for set lines.

Camping out must be in the air. Noted several camps up Bayou LaCroix with folks enjoying camping, boating, sking and fishing. Must be a forerunner for the 4th of July holidays coming up! Jourdan River is another excellent place to camp also. Don't be a litter bug, clean up your camp site after using it. The camp doesn't cost anything and it costs less to leave it like you found it. Keep our woods looking pretty.

Nice sandwiches can be made for that fishing trip by boiling a few eggs, frying some bacon, mash together, add a little salt and pepper and some onion, mix with mayonnaise. They stay moist and make for good eating. Fine for picnics and camping, too.

Remember letting the boss have his own way, simplifies matters a whole lot.

Places to remember for launching that speed hull or fishing boat where there are launching ramps is at the American Legion Pier, up the Kiln Road at Jourdan River, at Bayou La Croix and almost at the head of Bayou Phillip on Hi-Way 90 and at the end of the seawall at Cedar Point.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK known to most of us is Herman Mazarakis who has done fishing all his life. He is not only a good fisherman but cook as well. Mighty handy to have on a camp out.

some reminiscing going on regarding fishing, etc.

Shrimping time is here. The blessing of the fleets is an annual affair. Both Bay St. Louis and Biloxi celebrated this occasion over the weekend. According to advice this year's shrimping season should be a record-breaker. Maybe we can get Shrimp a little cheaper.

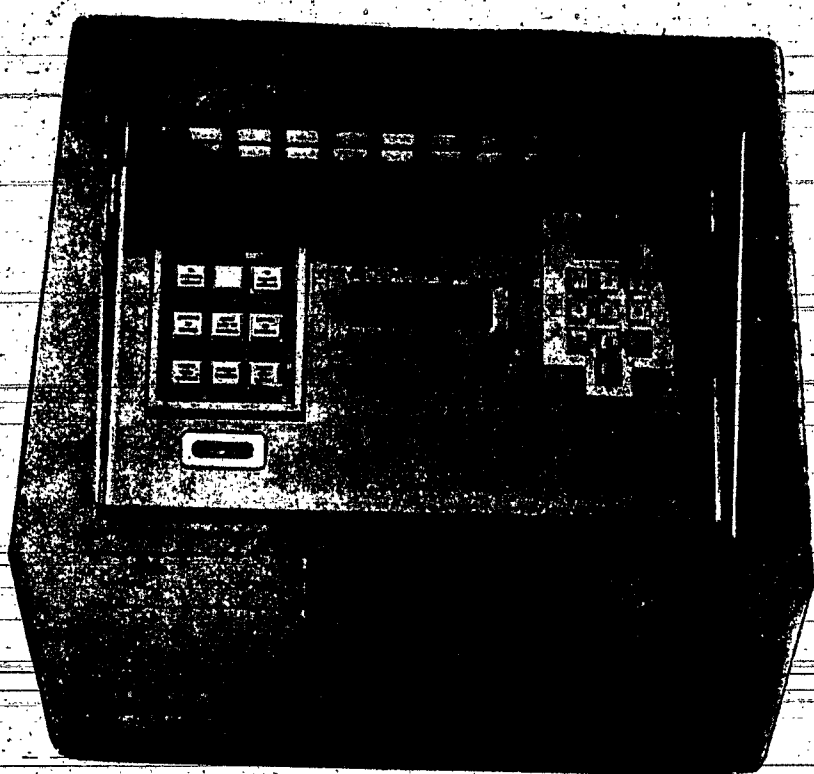

Ed Arceneaux is planning his annual fishing trip for this year. Going a little later when it gets cooler, he said. He enjoys fishing up-North.

For those who like to check the tides there is a tide table each week in The Echo on the front page. Or the tide is given each day in the Times-Picayune for Biloxi, Miss. By adding 2 1/2 hours to the schedule at South West Pass it will give the correct tide at Bay St. Louis.

Good news to those who have been waiting to catch speckle trout. Some speckles were caught over at the rock pile at Henderson Point and some cigar trout were caught at the American Legion pier over the weekend. They must be moving in and should be up Jourdan River shortly. The water out front and up the river is clearing all the time. They were caught on small shrimp and live minnows. Bought down at Gulfport.

Bobbie Shortle and Alma Jennings (her aunt) have been doing some crabbing and fishing. Bobbie has been visiting here for a couple of weeks. She is the former Mrs. Billie Bourgeois.

Al Champagne said he has been too busy with Waveland Civic business to do much fishing. Expects to get back to it soon.

ETV Will Feature Eudora Welty Photos

As a tribute to novelist Eudora Welty in recognition of her recent Pulitzer Prize achievement, the Mississippi Educational Television Network will broadcast the television adaptation of "One Time, One Place," Miss Welty's book of photographs of life in Mississippi during the depression.

The unique treatment of Miss Welty's book can be seen on "Blacklife," a monthly production of the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television, at 9 p.m. June 29, over the Mississippi Educational Television Network (Channels 19, Biloxi; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 29, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 18, Oxford; University; and 2, State College).

At the beginning of the program actress Tommie Stewart pays special tribute to the Mississippi author and quotes Martha Graham as saying: "These dark days it is all the clearer that her novels and her stories are a national treasure. We must guard it zealously for such a glory as Eudora does not often come to look at us, to study us, and to sing about us."

The photographs in "One Time, One Place" were taken by Miss Welty with a 1930 vintage camera. She printed them herself at night in the kitchen of her family home in Jackson.

About the pictures Miss Welty recalls, "I had just come home from college and was among the many who found their first full-time job with the W.P.A. As publicity agent, I was sent about over the 82 counties of Mississippi. In no time, I was taking a camera with me."

In commenting on how lucky it is that Miss Welty took a camera with her, Mrs. Stewart says on the ETV program, "It was a giant step in search of truth -- and yet by taking that step, Eudora Welty cast no blame nor pointed a finger at anyone. She was concerned and endowed by her own roots to seek the makings of other sprouts."

By searching, she found and then dared to share with others this truth of people existing in her world, people sometimes overlooked, sometimes forgotten.

Eudora Welty's voice and vision of "One Time, One Place" gives us entrance into a very special world -- the world of an artist."

After the 15 minute television adaptation of Miss Welty's book, Jackson State College Public Information Director Stanley Johnson interviews nationally known business leader and former baseball great Joe Black.

After graduating from Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md., Black became a professional baseball player with the Baltimore Elite Giants of the Negro National League. He holds the distinction of being the first Negro to win a world series game.

Black discusses his success in both sports and business and gives his philosophy as to what young people today can do to achieve success.

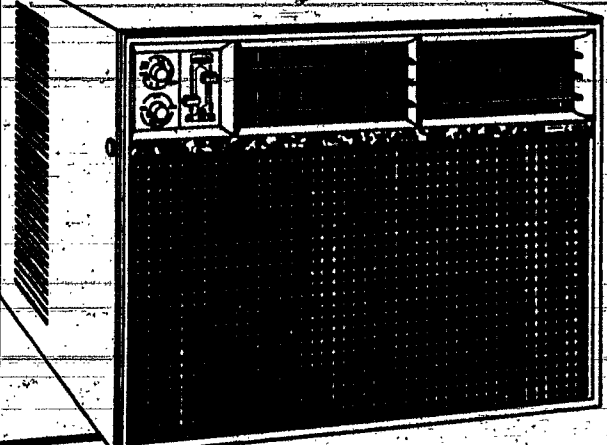

"Blacklife," a monthly program focusing on the needs and interests of the black people in Mississippi, is a production of the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television.
